

The American Diabetes Association (“Association”) strives to control the costs associated with providing camp in order to keep the fee families pay as reasonable as possible. The Association underwrites the cost of every camper by at least 50% of the fee that is charged to families.

In order to provide the camp program, the Association must contract and pay for the procurement of staff, a camp facility, and all supplies up to 10 months prior to camp. We must pay all expenses for a guaranteed number of campers regardless of the number that actually attend. Therefore, this policy exists to ensure that the Association can continue to make camp affordable for families as well as to provide financial assistance to those that need it. It also provides the Association with time to fill vacancies from the camp waiting list.
